Space flight to launch resident's study

By Diane Gale staff writer

A Canton woman will be taking a giant step into medical and NASA history by heading a research project to be launched on a space shuttle next year.

Muriel Ross, professor of anatomy and cell biology at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, is spearheading the first U.S. space study on the effects of gravity on receptors located in the inner ear.

Ross said she doesn't think about the effect she will have on future research with this pioneering move. 'We just do our work," she said.

The goal of the project is to gain insights on equilibrium levels and the causes of motion sickness suffered by about half of the astronauts on space missions. Tissue from 15 rats, which will be on the flight and will be used for the research, also will be studied for data on poor equilibrium levels and motion sickness suffered by people on earth.

HER FINDINGS ON the structure of the ear must be the first step in the process of improving conditions affecting the organ, and hopefully will aid physiologists down the road, Ross said.

"The environment in space can't be duplicated on earth," she said. 'And, for gravity receptors, it's important to do the research in a gravity-less environment. We have tried to simulate the environment, but it's only for a short period of time.

This will give us clues in helping us understand space adaptation," said Ross, who has three assistants in her research lab. tucked in a small corner of the Medical Science Building II. Ross has performed research at the university for 20

The 18-year Canton resident has worked on the project, funded by NASA, for four years and expects to continue studying data another two years after the shuttle lands. The final results will be outlined in a re-

Tanger Elementary School would become a preschool center and its pupils transferred to Farrand Elementary under a plan being considered by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

The school board is reviewing a proposal for shifts in school attendance areas which have been recommended for the next two school years.

Superintendent Dr. John M. Hoben presented recommendations to the board Monday from the housing committee which has been meeting over the past several months. The board is expected to act on the proposals at one of its next two meetings.

Tanger is located on Five Mile west of Haggerty, to the northeast of Lake Pointe Subdivision, while Farrand is located in the middle of LakePointe The district's preschool programs in-clude Headstart, PLUS, and Infant and Preschool Special Education Program

Head Start and PLUS now are locat ed at Central Middle School and IPSEP at Farrand. A year ago there was some discussion of consolidating the preschool programs at Starkweather which now is used as an adult education center.

Two years ago, as a result of declining enrollment, Tanger and Starkweather shared the same principal, and this year the two schools were basically consolidated when Starkweather no longer was used as an elementary building

SHOULD THE plan be implemented as proposed, Tanger Elementary would become a preschool center in the 1986-87 school year, with pupils in grades one to six transferred to Farrand Ele-

Only minor changes were suggested for the next school year, including having the kindergarten children from Tanger Elementary who live in Honeytree transfered to Fiegel Elementary, and moving some children who live close to Allen Elementary from Tanger

Eventually the housing committee has recommended that all Honeytree elementary-age pupils attend Fiegel which is located on Joy Road east of I-

The changes are designed so that children may attend the schools closest to their homes. Hoben said public meetings have been held on the changes for next year, and he doesn't think this "will meet with any dissatisfaction at this point.

FOR THE following year, it is proposed that students living in Stoneybrook be transferred from Tanger to

The other Tanger students would move to Farrand Elementary while the special education youngsters in IPSEP

Students living in Fellows Creek would be transferred from Farrand to Hulsing Elementary. Sixth graders now housed at Hulsing would then attend Central Middle School.

Besides establishing a separate building for preschool programs, the committee's plan would work toward the more long-range goal of dividing the schools by grade so that all elementary schools would return to housing grades kindergarden to five, middle schools grades six to eight, and high Entertainers will include the Sammy Duka Clown Band, Klazz Akt Break Dancers, Detroit Bluegrass and Cross Town Cloggers, and at 10 p.m., fireworks "designed to be a celebration of Canton, and as a way for parents to entertain their kids for free, says Baldrica.

Saturday's 10 a.m. parade, to be filmed by Omnicom, will feature the Michigan Scottish Pipes and Drums, First Michigan Colonial Fife and Drum Corps, the Canton Corvette Club, Shriners, Spiriters' Baton Twirling and Cheerleading Squad, floats, calliopes and many other entrants.

Reversed this year, the parade will originate on Saltz Road, proceed north on Sheldon, west on Ford Road, south on Canton Center to Proctor and the festival grounds. The reviewing stand will be set up at Griffin Park. Plenty of parking will be provided. It's suggested that paradegoers bring lawn chairs. For folks who've worked up an ap-

Fires cause injury, property damage

Two fires broke out early this week, in a garage and in the bedroom of a home, causing personal injuries and property damage.

A 30-year-old Canton woman suffered first, second and third degree burns on her foot in a fire started by

'My son was playing with matches in his (upstairs) bedroom," said the woman, who wishes to remain anonymous.

The youngster lit a piece of paper, burned his finger and tossed the ignited object toward his bed. The flame landed between the mattress and the wall.

"He came down and told me that his bed was on fire," the mother said. "I didn't know the mattress was on fire and stepped on it."

The woman was transported to Oakwood Hospital Canton Center about 4:30 p.m. and released soon afterward. The boy escaped without serious injuries. The burn on his finger was 'like a sunburn," his mother said.

Blanchard plugs property tax rebates

People would rather have a property tax cut than an early income tax cut, Gov. James J. Blanchard believes. The property tax is the most burdensome, most out-of-line tax in Michigan," he said.

But state senators - particularly Republicans - prefer to cut the state ncome tax ahead of schedule. Blanchard thinks he knows why: "Legislators fear they will not get credit for proper ty tax rebates, but they will get credit or income tax cuts.

The governor, owner of a house in Pleasant Ridge, is stumping the state for his "Tax Fairness" plan. Its bottom line is to increase the program of property tax rebates for both homeowners and renters from more than $500 million to almost $750 million.

He met last week with suburban newspaper editors and reporters, bringing along a host of charts.

Schoolcraft commencement: 20th year of degrees

HERE WAS no political superstar on the rostrum. Yet friends and families of Schoolcraft College graduates packed the Physical Education Building gymnasium Saturday evening for what appeared to be the best-attended commencement in the 20 years that the northwestern Wayne County community college has been granting degrees.

Some 318 of the 867 persons who received degrees this academic year donned traditional blue caps and gowns for the ceremony, whose popularity has increased during the 1980s.

Altogether, President Richard McDowell said, 11,885 persons have received either an associate degree or a certificate of program completion since the college opened its doors.

A RECORD of sorts may have been set by Jennifer J. Lucas. The Livonia resident was awarded four degrees at once - associate in general studies, associate in arts, associate in applied sciences and associate in science. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Freiman of Plymouth saw three of their nine children receive degrees at the same ceremony - Thomas (engineering), Patricia and Therese (science).

And 78 persons earned two degrees, while five earned three.

THE COLLEGE looked to its own community in finding speakers - Lowell T. Cook, president of the Faculty Forum and business nstructor since 1967; and two winners of distinguished alumni awards

They were Dr. Joseph Koppel, 41, now associate professor in Michigan State University's hotel, restaurant and institutional manage ment program; and Timothy Tiernan, 34, of Westland, civic activist and account manager at Ford Motor Co.

HONORARY DEGREES went to:

 Dunbar Davis, retired district judge in Northville-Plymouth-Canton area, who "has actively involved area youth in the procedures of law including taking court to high schools for life sessions, allowing high school students to serve as advisory jurors in court cases, and promoting mock trials by high school students" - honorary associate in arts

• Mark A. McQuesten, first Schoolcraft graduate ever elected to the board of trustees (1975-81), editor of the Campus Globe, member of the Student Senate and community activist who is now studying for the Catholic priesthood - honorary associate in arts and John N. Santeiu Jr., Garden City funeral director, life member of the Schoolcraft College Foundation, president of the foundation form 1982-4, donor, instrumental in obtaining a $50,000 bequest for the foundation and civic volunteer — associate in arts and sciences.

McDowell said 47 graduates were inducted into Phi Theta Kappa national honorary soci-

TEXT TO crime rates, job security and Tiger baseball, the topic of women's public restroom facilities hardly rates attention - or so you would think.

Yet in the last few weeks, 55 women have written to Observer & Eccentric Newspapers with their views about public "powder rooms." Their candid and often lengthy responses were spurred by a three-part series of articles on women's restrooms the shortage of facilities, the long lines, the overcrowded and dirty conditions

Readers were asked to give their feedback by filling out a survey form. Women who read the series agreed with the findings. In summary, they said: Women's public restooms fail to meet user needs most of the time.

A MAJOR share of the complaints blamed building designers and plumbing code officials for providing insufficient numbers of toilets in public places. Fully 82 percent of the respondents deplored the congested conditions women face using public restrooms, particularly at large-crowd com-

While standing in line during intermission at the Masonic Temple, I noticed that the men had stopped trickling in and out of their restroom, and I asked a Masonic employee if the women could use the men's facility. I was refused, and I and many other women were late for the second portion of the

That one word certainly describes Nick Coluccelli, in stock and parts at the Wayne terminal. In fact, during his eleven years of service at SEMTA, being frugal has been just part of the job.

Nick is very aware that money he spends on new parts is the taxpayers' hardearned money. But he's also aware that the safety of the driver and the passengers comes first. "I'm not going to buy a part just because it's cheap or because someone recommends it," says Nick. "It's simply a matter of finding the right part at the right price." Frugal. That's Nick Coluccelli. But he also brings other outstanding qualities to the job — just like all SEMTA people who make SEMTA the bus system that works. They're simply doing their best to be the best. As for Nick, it just means doing it very frugally.

Like father, like son

Sculptor Peter Rockwell emphasizes joy of life

This sculpture shows Peter Rockwell's interest in a variety of textures in his small, intimate sculptures.

Love is one of the joyful themes that Rockwell emphasizes in his art. Like his father, he avoids the darker side of life.

It's appropriate that 34 pieces of sculpture by Peter Rockwell in his one-man show are on display at a Plymouth residence.

Rockwell's sculpture is being shown at the Frank Lloyd Wright "Snowflake House" and its surrounding gardens. Another 23 Rockwell works may be seen at Frame Works in Plymouth.

At the "Snowflake House," the changing sunlight adds alternating touches of light and shadow to the works. A wall is angled just so, setting off several

THE ARTIST is as pleased by the setting as he is by two ducks that wandered over one afternoon last week to swim in a pond on the grounds and, maybe, take in the show, which runs through May 28.

"I like doing big pieces once in a while, but I really like doing things for the home, things you're going to live with," said Rockwell, who is scheduled to speak tonight at the Plymouth Canton High School Theater, part of his first visit to Michigan.
"Sculpture works with architecture. I hope," he added, glancing up at the blue sky, "Frank agrees

Daytime hours for the free exhibit at the house are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday-Saturday and 1-5 p.m. Sunday. Evening hours are 7-9 Thursday-Saturday. For information, call the Plymouth Community Arts Council at 455-5260.

IF YOU THINK marble or bronze pieces are cold and serious, Rockwell's artworks in those maferials will be a delightful surprise. His art is approachable, inviting the viewer to come close and touch the surfaces.

"I get 30 much fun out of working with my hands," Rockwell said.

Rockwell's white marble "Miracle Flower" has both rough and smooth surfaces, showing the different types of chisels used. This piece is a favorite of his because "everything worked out right," he says.

"When working with marble, I am very interested in-trying to convey the very sensuous feeling I have about marble. Marble has a variety of qualities. Different tools have different effects.

A SENSE OF balance can be felt as one looks at Rockwell's sculpture. In the whimsical bronze pieces "Dancer" and "Hat Dance," figures stand on one foot. Another bronze work, "Trapeze," is a hanging piece that features two figures on a swing.

"Hat Dance" is one of a series of dancing figures that came about when a friend tried to teach Rockwell how to tap dance. The artist thought his teacher deserved a better partner than himself, so he sculpted one for her.

"One of my great heroes is Fred Astaire," Rockwell said.

A piece designed for a fountain represents a family tree. Rockwell's actual family tree has some talented branches. He is the son of artist Norman

BOTH ROCKWELLS show a sense of humor in their art. When his father seriously tried to paint sexy women, they always looked funny. His own attempts at tragic works "just looked silly," Peter

"That's what the work is about. Humor and delight and joy are things worth having around," he

"It isn't that we don't think (tragedy) doesn't exist, that's just how it works out in our art, that's what we emphasize." Another thing the two Rockwells have in common is a love of traveling. "I really enjoy traveling. The only vacation he took was to travel. We (Peter's family) like the kind of traveling where you arrive in a town not knowing where you're going to go."

BORN IN 1936, Peter Rockwell earned a bacehlor's degree in English literature with honors

Sculptor Peter Rockwell enjoys making home size sculptures such as this piece, "Trapeze Ring," made of bronze.

from Haverford College in Pennsylvania.

Although his mother and an older brother, as well as his father, were painters, Peter Rockwell was never interested in that medium. He didn't get interested in sculpture until his fourth year in college, and then it was "by accident," he says.

I got sick of taking sports. The only thing (left) to take was a sculpture class. I fell in love with Rockwell studied the art from 1958 to 1961 at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia, where he received a traveling fellowship. In 1961 he moved to Italy, where he and his wife raised four children (now ages 25, 22 and 19, including a pair of twins). The Rockwells live there today, dividing time between Rome and an old farmhouse in the Casentino Valley. A small stone quarry was discovered on the farmhouse property.

"IT'S SAID sculpture is half engineering and half child-playing-with-mud-pies. I love getting my hands into clay. I just love getting my hands into things. I love stone

'I have a feel for clay. I don't have a feel for twodimensional surfaces too much. Every drawing I do never fits on the page.

Rockwell has several art projects going at once. There are times when everything works and nothing works. I try to work all the same. I work on a lot of things at once. I set my studio up so there's nothing else to do but sculpt. No comfortable place to take a nap.'

"I don't plan things out. I almost never make a

THE ARTIST also is a consultant for the Italian government, "learning more about the way people worked in the ancient world," he said. "The carving tools don't change." In addition, Rockwell has taught, lectured and published articles. He may have dream ing, but sculpture is what he likes best. Sculpture is where my heart is. When I'm doing something else, I'd rather be sculpting," Rockwell

"I tend to like the things I've just done very

REASONS FOR Rockwell's staying in Italy include the nearness of marble, bronze foundries and carvings by such artists as Michelangelo, Bernini and Donatello. Another advantage is the year-round circuses of that country, the artist says.

"I adore buying toys," he said. "I was mad at my children for growing up. I want grandchildren."

Art clubs promote brotherhood of artists

This is another lesson on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing. He has taught for ten years and operates an art store, Art Store and More, 16338 Middlebelt. Livonia, 522-6311, 265 N.

"Sandy! My headache is killing me and it's all your fault. How am I supposed to speak at the Garden City Art Club when I have to push on both my temples. I'm gonna be late, who's wearin' my gray socks and where is the asprin?" And so it was an hour before I was to speak. Adam, my 6-year-old, showed me how to remove the child proof cap on the bottle of asprin. Scott, my 15-year-old, gave back my gray socks, and Sandy stood there defending

You may be wondering how my headache was my wife's fault? Well my wife's twin sister, Sue, just has a little baby girl. So to Sandy that's kind of like her baby too . . . sort of . . . I think. At any rate, Sandy was anxious to have baby Lindsay spend the night, which was fine with me because her cry is still at the pre-scream stage. It is as if someone is softly saying "waaa . . . hic waaa." So just before bedtime, Lindsay spoke her little cry and Sandy knew just what to do.

Laying the baby on our bed, she took out the diaper pins and stuck them in the bed. She then cleaned, powdered and rediapered the baby as she always did. All the time talking a steady stream of baby talk, just like she always did when the kids were young

YES, EVERYTHING was just as it always was, except one thing . . . now we have a water bed. For the rest of the night baby Lindsay was dryer than we were. By 3 a.m. gallons of water had seeped up into our night clothes. By 5 a.m., I had run the gamut of bizarre dreams and twisted into every possible position to unconsiously escape the ensuing flood. For some reason Sandy and I woke up at the same time, looked at each other and asked the same question, "are you okay?" So you see my all night swim caused my all day headache and that was Sandy's fault. Despite a slight overdose of asprin and a crick in my neck, the talk at the Garden City Art Club went fine.

As I was up in front of the group, I couldn't help remembering about three their club. Now they boast 62 members and are growing fast. I thought to myself look at all the husbands, wives, mothers and even grandmas, taking time out of their schedule for one common love - art. That common love is in fact the qualification for brotherhood. With that qualification, I felt very much a part of their group and enjoyed answering their many ques-

Like a preacher, I ran 20 minutes over . . . five minutes at a time. And, like a politician, I probably didn't sufficiently answer their many questions. But by being there, I felt their common enthusiasm and interest and thought to myself, "What a good thing an art club can be." It is good for the city in that an art club promotes the arts in the local community and shame on the city fathers if they do not support them. With all the planning commissions, zoning boards and business/city study groups, it would be a sorry place if someone somewhere wasn't promoting local art participation.

What if the guy in the plaid shirt doesn't particularly like the lady with the blue smock or her art for that matter? Should club members take sides or form clicks? Of course not, Clicks or snobbery is a crack in the matrix of any club and a serious threat to its solidarity. And it's just plain . . . "no fun." If you have to or feel you must avoid the person you beat out for first place in last month's show, then there's a problem in your club. A club is merely your attitude multiplied by the number of members. So be the best member you can be. Neither looking up to the highly talented nor down on those with less talent. But finding your fulfillment from the development, expression and exhibition of your talent along with

An art club is of course good for the others finding the same. In that persuit members. With workshops, guest a steady growth of brotherhood and > ARTIFOLK: Erika came in for art class a couple of weeks ago and showed me her latest project. I liked it so much that it's now one of our lessons. The results can be photographic and it is a fast, "no mess" approach to full color rendering or painting. First, do a sketch on paper. When you have it per fected you lay mat acetate or Mylar (brand name) over your drawing. Mat acetate is shiny on one side and rough on the other and it usually comes in .005 and .003 thickness. I suggest you use the thinner, .005. With the mat side up trace your drawing in pencil. Then with acrylics in the jar or tube, paint in the main or base colors on the shiny side. Now you flip the acetate over and highlight and shade the base colors with colored pencils or even pastels and paper stomp on the rough side. The effect is truly remarkable, and it can range from abstract to photographic. Thanks, Erika!

Practice sharpens skills

Photographers, like athletes and musicians, reuire continuous practice. A violinist works daily on bow and fingering techniques. A gymnast practices his routines constantly to improve his performance. Photographers need their own kind of

First, you need to keep in tune with the technical skills needed to take good pictures. A photographer must know his equipment thoroughly. Basic controls such as aperture and shutter peed settings, focusing, ASA settings, and depth-ofield preview must become second nature. Knowing what each lens will do is important, too. Many shots requiring spontaneity may be lost if you have to fuss and deliberate over the controls on

Second, you must practice seeing picture possi bilities. Learn to see picture potential in ordinary situations that others may miss. The creative photographer looks for the unusual, notices small details, responds to color arrangement and sees textures and shadows. The creative photographer practices communicating with the subject and responding to the subject. Good photographers are open and receptive to the world around them. They let the subject film ready in an instant to respond. Practice looking at all things in new ways. Study our subjects from all angles. Try different camera positions, lighting conditions, or lens selections. Look at your subjects with an inner vision, allowing your personal experiences to become involved. To stay in practice, use your camera often. A tennis player, for example, develops skill and expertise only by spending hour after hour on the court. In photography, it's the same. As you practice, new horizons will open and your photography will be greatly enhanced.

Miss Michigan United

Pageant opens doors for show biz careers

By Loraine McClish staff writer

This year's Miss Michigan United Beauty Pageant will be televised for cable TV Wednesday, June 19, in Center Stage Entertainment Complex, Canton.

"That will be one more bit of exposure for the girls who want to break into modeling or show business careers," said Cindy Guenther, executive director of the pageant that is now af-filiated with Miss Venus USA. "Beauty pageants are still the number one, spas," Guenther said. watched speciality program in the Neilson ratings and getting these girls seen is what my pageant is all about.

Guenther stresses that no talent presentation is required for the competition. The entrants are judged in a personal interview, on their figures, charm, poise, personality, intelligence and photogenic potential.

The pageant is open to all women who are either a resident of Michigan or officially registered in a Michigan school or university, who have never been married. A former Miss Michigan World, Guenther initiated the pageant in 1977 to provide Michigan women with a vehicle for obtaining recognition to begin careers in modeling, the media and the auto shows.

EACH YEAR the contenders who are chosen as the 25 finalists automatically win auditions for the auto shows.

"Last year Ford Motor Co. alone hired 40 girls from the pageant, and those girls make a lot of money. So you don't have to be the title winner to win. It's not unusual for a talent scout or a photographer in the audience to spot something in a girl he likes that the judges don't see. And I see a lot of business cards passed during our prepageant parties," Guenther said.

The pre-pageant parties are given for the contenders to meet one another and the judges on an informal basis, and the contenders are invited bring the family," Guenther said. Another pre-pageant event is a drawing for a portfolio, a video tape of the pageant and a year's pass to Wayne Amusement theaters for the first 30 contestants who enter the pageant.

And another pre-pageant event for the first 30 contestants is complementary make-up and hair make-overs given by Ondine's Beauty Salon in South-

"Ondine's is a new sponsor this year and so is Fitness USA. We met them when they hired Jacky Meyer (Miss Michigan United for 1984 from Utica) as their spokesman for the health

A FORMER sponsor returning for this year's pageant is Dittrich Furs of Detroit and Bloomfield Hills who coordinate the now traditional parade of furs on pageant night. One of the new sponsors for the pageant is Elias Big Boy which will automatically hire 1985's title winner to star in one of next season's commercials for the chain.

The new Miss Michigan United will win a full-length fur coat of her choice from Dittrich's, the use of a car for a year, a $1,600 modeling scholarship to John Robert Powers Modeling School in Southfield, an all-expense trip to the Bahamas on Eastern Airlines and an all-expense trip to the nationally televised Miss Venus USA Pageant in New events this summer. 'Last year was our first year of affiliation with Miss Venus USA and our Miss Michigan United came in third runner-up. Pretty good for first time out. I think it might have had something to do with the amount of help our girls get from the John Robert Powers staff. So many of them have never been on a stage before and they get a lot of help just learning how to walk, how to handle themselves on stage," she said.

JUDGES FOR the pageant are a diverse group that run from welterweight Tommy Hearns to jazz instrumentalist Earl Klugh. Mira Linder of Esthetics of Mira Linder in Southfield, a sponsor of the pageant, will be back as a judge along with Dike Dake, a scout for Ford Motor Co. shows, Steve Danton of Dittrich's and Harriet Fuller whose company produces fashion shows. "This is the wrong time of the year to change my phone number, but we are moving, and we don't want to miss any calls from anyone who wants to be part of this year's pageant," Guenther

N.Y. by boat: It's a wonderful ride

special writer

Steven Moran, a jolly, highly in-formed commentator for what has been called "America's favorite boat ride?" keeps up a continuous patter as a Circle Line boat takes its three-hour, 35-mile sightseeing cruise around Manhattan Island

"If you can't find it in New York, you can't find it anywhere on this cockamamy planet of ours. But Disneyland we ain't. So don't stroll through Central Park at 4 a.m. Stay where the people are. It's that simple. And above all, enjoy yourselves. We are the Big Apple."

The Circle Line may well be America's most used boat ride judging by the hundreds of thousands of tourists who've gawked at New York's majestic, arrogant skyline while cruising by hundreds of famed landmarks.

"When New York City came into being, after Peter Stuyvestant surrendered the Dutch Fort Amsterdam to the English in 1664, the population was about 1,500 - less than the capacity of any three Circle Line yachts. Today nearly half of the city's population of 7,710,000 is of foreign birth or paren-

CIRCLE LINE commentators, the masters of ceremony, entertain passengers with facts, lore and humorous trivia as cruises progress south down the Hudson River to the Statue of Liberty in upper New York harbor

The yachts then round the tip of Manhattan Island and sail northward on the East River past the United Nations and Gracie Mansion, the mayor's residence. The route continues along the Harlem River past Yankee Stadium and returns to the Circle Line Plaza on the Hudson, pier number 83 on the west end of 42nd Street.

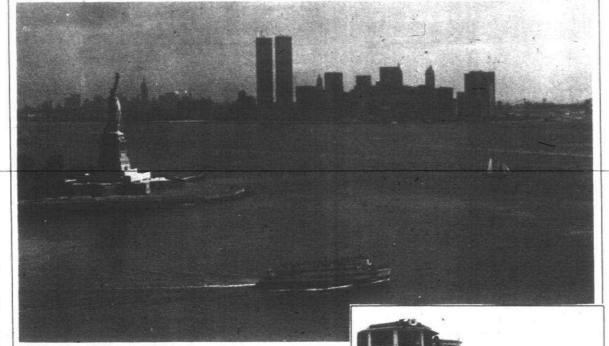

The relaxing, refreshing cruise is a real entertainment bargain when compared to New York's $20 to $50 theater tickets. Adults pay $10; children under 12, $5. Parking at the pier is $3.

The Circle Line has eight sightseeing yachts. Some were converted from World War II U.S. Naval vessels called "Landing Craft Infantry." They were designed to transport battle-ready troops to enemy beaches for the invasion of Normandy and the landings on Okinawa. Each yacht holds 500 to 600

CRUISES RUN until Nov. 11. They start at 9:30 daily and run all day, leaving 30 or 45 minutes apart until 3:45 p.m. On Wednesday and Thursday summer evenings, two-hour twilight cruises start at 7:30 for $35. Hors d'oeuvres, dancing and drinks are included. Jackets are required for gentlemen. Ladies should bring a wrap ocean breezes can be chilly, even on a sultry summer night. The commentator's promise: "You're not going to see God's Country on this trip; you're going to see man-made New York."

Man-made is right. What a sight the Empire State Building, the twin towers of the World Trade Center, Battery Park City, Ellis Island, Wall Street, Fulton Fish Market, the Bowery, Brooklyn Navy Yard, Citicorp Center, Rockefeller University, York ville (Germantown), Hellgate Channel The Bronx, the Cloisters, Little Red Lighthouse, Grant's Tomb, Henry Hudson Parkway and Riverside Drive and Rockefeller Center - to name a few. Plus about 200 more man-made creations, including 20 bridges.

YOU CAN enjoy the cruise from the yacht's open decks or from a glass-enclosed salon. All seats are good, but commentator Moran suggests that the best ones for photographing New York's amazing sights are on the left in the bow downstairs.

Food and drink - liquor, soda, coffee and snacks - are sold on board. Hot dogs are $1.25 and seem to taste especially good while you glide around Manhattan caressed by salty sea

There are 10 Circle Line commentators. Although they learn from a prepared text and must deliver many. many facts - historic and current no two commentators are alike. Each master of ceremonies brings his own personality and style into the commentary and liberally peppers the unbending historical information with anecdotes. Several, like 50-year-old Steven Moran, are actors.

"BY GOLLY, isn't the Brooklyn Bridge a knockout?" Moran asked over the loud-speaker system. "When it opened May 24, 1883, it was hailed as 'the Eighth Wonder of the World.' Imagine, it was orginally designed for horse-drawn carriages and pedestrians

"Its 268-foot high limestone twin towers were taller than any other structure in the city and its 1,600-foot span between the towers made it the largest suspension bridge of its time."

Moran has no idea how many times he's circled Manhattan since his first

"One of our commentators figures he's circled more than 7,000 times," he said. "I never get bored with the trip. It's always different. The people aboard are guests. It's kind of like having a family of 500.

"I like to acquaint them with the city and tell them something they'd normally not hear about. For instance, point out the section of Wall Street where a sequence of 'Annie Hall' was filmed.

'It's my time to show off what I truly love - New York, New York. It's a winner. But for heaven's sake, wear

Bridesmaids: Handle with loving care, consideration

Accompanying the more than 2.5 million brides expected to walk down aisles all over the nation this year will be more than 10 million bridesmaids. And while the days of worrying about always being a bridesmaid and never a bride have passed in most quarters, being a wedding attendant still carries its share of anxiety.

According to Bride's Magazine, today's bridesmaids share some complaints and concerns that have worried attendants since the advent of the modern wedding

Perhaps the most frequently heard complaint is that the bridesmaids didn't like the dresses the bride chose for them. Color, style and price of the gowns chosen all came in for criticism from the women who wore them

Although it's hard for the bride to please everyone, Bride's suggest that brides take their maid or matron of honor shopping with them to narrow down the choices to about three styles.

Be sure the dresses you chose flatter your attendants. Full skirts and blouson tops are classic styles that look good on a variety of figures. You may even want to look at two-piece outfits or shorter styles that can be worn again

Once you've made the preliminary selection, schedule a time when the rest of the women in the wedding party can come to the bridal shop and vote on the final selec-

Be considerate of your attendants budgets. Costs can add up when you consider that it's usual for attendants to pay for their own outfits, including shoes, accessories and maybe even an extra dress for the rehearsal dinner. Add that to the cost of wedding and shower gifts as well as transportation, lodging and meals for attendants from out of town.

You may want to enlist friends and relatives to offer your attendants a place to stay. Or let your bridesmaids select their own shoes, perhaps even wear a pair they already own. If you can, offer to provide bridesmaids a chance to practice walking down the aisle with you. Make sure they know where to stand during different segments of the ceremony. Allow them to rehearse and feel comfortable with anything they may be required to read during the ceremony. Practice passing the bouquet to your attendant.

Before the wedding, ask them for help if you need it, in choosing your dress, addressing invitations and welcoming out-oftown guests. Remember, though that bridesmaids, as well as brides, are busy

Paul Scicluna has had enough

HE LITTLE MAN with the beard was conspicuously absent Monday night when the state's two top girls soccer teams, Livonia Stevenson and Livonia Bentley, took the field for a league championship showdown.

Though small in stature, Paul Scicluna usually isn't hard to pick out when he's coaching on the sidelines. If he's not harping on a referee, he's admonishing his players to work the short passing

Though it was the biggest game of the year (see related story), Scicluna decided Monday morning that he was no longer suited to coach Bentley, one of the state's top powerhouses.
"Paul resigned, but we didn't want him to," said

Bob Bentley, the school's athletic director. "He had philosophical differences with the team. An incident last week touched off the resignation, according to Bentley. Scicluna suspended two standout players, Amy Weber and Colleen McQueen, for improper behavior during a 4-1 victory over North Farmington. The two parties had a vehement disagreement on the field.

BUT SOME OF the players, according to the AD, felt the suspensions should have been lifted for the big game with Stevenson.

"I felt Paul took the normal disciplinary action," Bentley said. "He couldn't disgard his principles. It defies a more logical explanation. Scicluna, apparently looking for complete support from the team on the suspensions, didn't

"It was time for me to resign," Scicluna said Monday night. "I'm a man of principles and was within my own right. It was the best thing to do for the team.

Scicluna, who has coached at Bentley for nearly seven years, admits he's demanding. "I get pretty hyper," he said. "I'm a tough coach. I'm tough on skills. I demand character and respect. I teach soccer as a tool for the future I'm not concerned with the won-lost record."

Bentley principal Dr. Ken Watson, who attended Monday's match, said the door is still open for Scicluna to come back

MR. SCICLUNA did a nice job for us," Watson said. "He left for important reasons. There were no hard feelings.

"I'm sure it was a difficult decision. He spent many hours above and beyond the call of duty. I'm not opposed to reconciliation."

Scicluna's love affair with soccer has gone on for nearly 30 years. He does not teach and coach for a living. His owns and manages three florist shops.

"There's no chance that I'll be back," Scicluna said. "But you don't work seven or eight years at a school and not have it hurt.

"I'll die with Bentley in my heart." Scicluna, who led his team to a 14-1 record, couldn't stay away Monday night. He watched Stevenson's 4-3 victory over Bentley from a distant perch. "I thought the team got together and played a good match," he said. "I was pulling for them." The new coach is Paul Dugan, whose daughter Dana is one of the team's key members. Dugan had been Scicluna's assistant

ALTHOUGH THE TEAM gave Stevenson a battle, you have to wonder how long this awkward situation can continue. Weber and McQueen played Monday night, so apparently Dugan has wiped the slate clean as far as they're concerned. Scicluna said, "I regret" putting Mr. Dugan in this position." After the game, Dugan did not want to comment on the situation. Watson, meanwhile, said it's not proper for him to become a mediator. "There was no time for involvement," he said.

"There was no chance to do that." Both Watson and Bentley (the AD) say they have given Scicluna their full support, but have they really? Earlier in the season, Scicluna accused his team of "choking" in a 4-1 loss to Stevenson. When the AD was asked if that comment had strained relations between Scicluna and his team, he said he wasn't made aware of any complaints from players or parents. Bentley also told me that Scicluna had brought in a motivational speaker to address the squad on

The AD said that the speaker had been lined up before the season, and in no way was aimed at any particular player.

THE FRUSTRATIONS of losing to Stevenson should in no way diminish the success of these

Bentley teams. Watson stressed that the team's record during the past three seasons is something the school and surrounding community should be proud of. But I got the feeling from the stands the other night that until this Bentley team beats Stevenson, their supporters won't be satisfield. It's silly to rate this team as a failure. It's not my job to choose sides on this matter, but if Scicluna felt as strongly as he did, he should have stayed. The whole thing is unfortunate. Bentley is closing its doors in June and it's a shame that this school has never won a state championship. This team was the only one left that had a chance.

If every picture tells a story then this one speaks volumes. Salem third baseman Mike Kesson mishandles the throw, Stevenson's Brian Song is safe. Song later scored. Stevenson won 8-7.

Spartans ruin Rock streak

staff writer

Plymouth Salem and Livonia Stevenson played a little tortoise-and-hare baseball Monday afternoon.

Salem, the hare, jumped quickly in front 4-0. Then, thinking it had the game won, the hare decided to rest. Stevenson, the tortoise, took advantage of Salem's nap and raced ahead 7-4. The Rocks eventually woke up and tried to regain its lead but, in the end, the underdog tortoise won the game 8-7 in eight innings. As in the fable, the hare learned a great lesson.

"We just lost our intensity," said Salem coach John Gravlin. "We got a four-run lead and then flat-out expected them to lay down and die. You can't do that against a team like Stevenson.

STEVENSON IS no stranger to the role of spoiler. Salem is the second undefeated No. 9-

Spartans. Two weeks ago the Spartans put the first blemish on then No. 9-ranked Plymouth

Salem came in Monday, unbeaten in the Western Lakes and ranked No. 9 in the state. We had a little pregame talk today about staying together," said Stevenson coach Jim

"With our record (6-7), we're not George. going anywhere. But, if we stay together and play ball, some crazy things can happen. Like we can knock off the No. 9 team in the state again.

The game-winner for Stevenson came in the bottom of the eighth. Chris Tancill's slap single through a drawn-in Salem infield scored Brian Trainor from third. Trainor had reached first on a bad-hop single and went to third on Frank Williams' single, his fourth hit

But, two factors enabled the Spartans to be in a position to win: Salem's inability to score runners from third with less than two out and Stevenson's unrelenting seven-run burst in the ranked team in the state to be humbled by the fifth, which was aided by some sloppy Salem

TOM MOORE'S double triggered Salem's four-run first. After a pair of Stevenson miscues let in one run, Doug Kirkpatrick scored two more with a single and Pat Walsh's single scored the fourth.

The Rocks let Stevenson pitcher Pat McAlinden off the hook squandering scoring chances in the third and fifth.

foot triple that landed in the middle of the old Stevenson softball diamond. But, the next three hitters failed to bring him home.

Tim Robinson led off the third with a 400-

With one out in the fifth, Mike Kesson doubled and stole third. He stayed there. Then Stevenson exploded. Five hits, three Salem errors, two walks and a stolen base accounted for the runs. Five were charged to starter Brian Tiller, two to Shane Smith five of the seven were unearned.

WILLIAMS, MIKE LaFrance, Mike Olshanski and Brian Cox (two) collected the RBI.

Salem awoke in the top of the seventh, thanks to some crafty bunting. After Steve Dawson led off with a single, Jim Lynch and Moore each reached base on bunt singles. After a strikeout, Robinson's routine ground ball took a bad hop into left field to score a pair Rob Adams then hit a sacrifice fly to tie the game. Robinson was thrown out at third after Moore crossed the plate.

McAlinden, the third starter in Stevenson's rotation, allowed nine hits in eight innings, only six after the first. He struck out six and didn't walk a batter.

Smith absorbed the loss for the Rocks (12-5, 9-1 in the Western Lakes).

"We really wanted the undefeated league season," Gravlin said. "If somebody beats us, that's one thing. But to just throw it away ourselves, that's terrible. You know, we haven't won anything yet. We're in good shape, with a 9-1 record and three games left. But, we haven't won anything yet.

Tired Chiefs take 2 of 3 in Midland

The Plymouth Canton baseball team has survived what will most likely be its most gruelling portion of the 1985 schedule.

The Chiefs have endured a nine-games-in-sevendays stretch, winning six of the nine contests.

Considering what the kids have gone through with David Knapp (Canton's starting shortstop who is now recovering after a serious automobile accident) and the kind of week we had, you have to feel a bit proud of these kids," said Canton coach Fred

The Chiefs, after losing a tough 7-6 decision to rival Plymouth Salem Wednesday, and dropping a 5-3 decision to Walled Lake Western Thursday (the completion of the game suspended Monday May 6), got back in the win column with 4-2 victory over Northville Friday.

THE CHIEFS rallied from a 2-0 deficit with four runs in the sixth. Singles by Pete Morman and Mark Stevens set the table for Dwayne Bennett's RBI ground out and Tom Kenyon's RBI suicidesqueeze bunt single. Then, with the runners moving, Danny Young drilled a double, scoring the third and fourth runs.

Bucky Blake got the win, going the first five innings and allowing just one hit. He walked five and fanned seven. Mike Clark worked two perfect innings to notch a save.

But the unsung hero of the game was Jeff Rummel. The senior outfielder was not in the starting lineup, but he was still very much in the game. In the top of the sixth, Northville ahead 2-0, the Mustangs put runners on first and third with only one out. Rummel stole the squeeze sign from the third base coach and relayed it to Crissey. Crissey called for a pitchout and the Chiefs nailed the runner at the plate.

"A lot of times you sit a guy down and he goes off in the corner and sucks his thumb," Crissey said. "Jeff stayed alert and contributed to the team. We gave him a lot of credit for that."

THE CHIEFS hit the road for Midland immediately following the game. At 9 a.m. Saturday, the Chiefs took on a 15-6 Alpena team. With left-hander John Lenders turning in his best pitching performance of the season, Canton won 9-3.

Canton broke open a 3-3 game with a six-run sixth inning. Chris Sisler, 2-for-3 on the day, seven hits on the weekend, knocked in a pair of runs that inning. Stevens capped it with a three-run homer. The Chiefs also defeated Midland (17-7) on Saturday 10-9. Mike Clark hit a grand-slam home run to put Canton on top early. Jeff Lyle and Mark Coburn held off Midland's late rally. The Chiefs ran out of arms on Sunday. Saginaw Arthur Hill, which scored 45 runs in three games over the weekend, blitzed Canton 12-4. On Monday the Chiefs, 15-4 and ranked No. 1 in Observerland, rested.

"Our financial projections indicate that because of spiraling production and touring costs, the gap between the Metropolitan's fee and box office income will continue to widen at Ford III, Detroit Grand Opera Asociation president and general manager "In order to keep up, the corporations who now support us would have to double and triple their support."

The 1986 contract, for $915,000, would have brought the Met to De-troit's Masonic Temple for the 28th onsecutive season. The Detroit Grand Opera Association's projected budge r 1986 included that figure along with Masonic Temple rental of $150,000 and $110 000 to backstage crews.

The remaining amount would go for office and staff, publicity and the opera udition scholarship fund.

THE MET pays the cast, orchestra musicians, transportation costs and hoaccommodations. According to Charles Bonheur, production coordinaor in charge of tour operations, many Met prople choose to stay in Canadian

The Met's formula for tour cities, according to Melodee A. DuBois, managing director, is for ticket sales to cover the Met fee.

From 1959-1967, ticket sales were $20,000-$46,000 in excess of the Met fee. In 1984, the Detroit office grossed highest ever from ticket sales ($595.567) and was still $250,000 short

When the Met brings in operas with no major stars, it means financial losses for all of the tour cities. DuBois said that with no star, projections are down $50 000 before tickets even go on sale. "The tour is no longer the means for Adapting a play to movies is an often thankless task. The two arts share so many things in common - actors, sets, similar technical crews, dramatform - that it is easy to forget that they are essentially different Stage is verbal, film is visual. Each has elements of the other, of course, but the difference is important.

Robert Anderson's play is still a play in Gilbert Cates' film version. Little things have been done to "open it up " more scene changes have been added, the outdoor world is used; but this is still a play and the emphasis is still on words.
