Biographical Sketch

Paul Leser was born on February 23, 1899 in Frankfurt am Main, Germany, the youngest of Wilhelm and Helene (Rikoff) Leser's three children. He attended schools in Frankfurt and was graduated from the Goethe Gymnasium in 1917 with his Abitur. That year, Leser was inducted into the German Army and served in World War I; he later became ill and recuperated in the Army Hospital. During his hospitalization, he began taking classes at the University of Bonn. In 1919, he became a member of the Nerother-Bund, a part of the German youth movement which was founded by the brothers Karl and Robert Oelbermann. Also in that year, he returned to the University of Bonn to study under his mentor Fritz Graebner, one of the principal exponents of the cultural-historical approach to ethnology. He graduated from the University of Bonn with his Ph.D. in 1925.

Leser held positions at the Frankfurter Bund für Volksbildung and at the Ethnological Museum in Frankfurt before becoming a Privatdozent for Ethnology at the Darmstadt Institute of Technology. During this time period he became involved in the case against Dr. Julius Lips of the Raustenstrauch-Joest Museum, who was accused by Leser and others of plagiarizing from the works of Graebner, Schmidt, and Koppers. The case dragged on until 1933, when many of the participants were removed from their positions by the Nazis. Though the case took up much of his time in the early 1930's, his main interest was his own work on the history of the plow. In 1931, his most renowned work Entstehung und Verbreitung des Pfluges was published (it was eventually reprinted in Denmark in 1971).

In 1936, because of the increasingly hostile political climate in Germany, Leser was forced to immigrate to Sweden. He took a position as translator for Folk-Liv in Stockholm. In 1941, he immigrated to the United States. Leser served in the United States Army in North Africa, Sicily, and Italy from 1942-1945. After the war, and a brief stint as a civilian employee at the U.S. War Department, Leser returned to the world of academia. Beginning in 1947, he held positions as Professor of Anthropology at Olivet College in Michigan, Black Mountain College in North Carolina, and The Hartford Seminary Foundation in Connecticut. In 1967, he retired from his teaching position at the Hartford Seminary and became an Emeritus member of the faculty. At the time of his death in December of 1984, Leser was a Research Professor of Anthropology at the University of Hartford. Leser died in Hartford at the age of 85 and was buried in the family plot in a cemetery in Frankfurt am Main.

Scope and Contents

The Paul Leser Papers consist of 95 cu. ft. of materials, 1850-1984. The collection, rich in family history, documents, and correspondence, documents not only the life and career of anthropologist Paul Leser, but also contains materials pertaining to Leser's sister, Maria Lingemann and her husband Heinrich Lingemann, and earlier members of the Leser family. Although the collection contains correspondence between Paul and his brother, Albert (Leser) Lestoque, a separate collection, the Albert (Leser) Lestoque Papers, held at the University at Albany's Department of Special Collections & Archives documents the life and career of Paul Leser's brother as well as providing additional Leser family documents and material.

In addition to numerous family materials and related correspondence, the collection also contains: Leser's vast correspondence with fellow anthropologists and ethnologists, colleagues, students, and life-long friends; a sizable reprint collection; manuscripts, typescripts and published versions of Leser's own writings; course notes, materials and student files.

Two series in the collection of special interest to researchers are the materials pertaining to the ethnologist and mentor of Paul Leser, Fritz Graeber, and the collection of materials pertaining to Julius Lips (see Series 8 and 9 description).

The collection is divided into twenty-one series: 1) Biographical materials, documents, 1882-1984; 2) Diaries, notebooks, account books, address books, 1914-1983; 3) Family and legal correspondence, 1850-1984; 4) Maria (Mira) and Heinrich (Heinz) Lingemann Collection, 1913-1964; 5) General Correspondence, 1913-1984; 6) Correspondence with institutions, associations, publishers, etc., 1920-1984; 7) Writings of Paul Leser, 1914-1979; 8) Fritz Graebner Collection, 1909-1980; 9) Julius Lips Collection, 1926-1940; 10) Jugendbewegung Collection, 1913-1984; 11) Course (teaching) materials, ca. 1926-1974; 12) Notes on various topics, notebooks, 1915-1974; 13) Photographs, negatives, slides, ca. 1900-1980; 14) Manuscripts, reprints and publications by other authors; 15) Pamphlets; 16) Hartford Seminary Foundation materials, 1950-1984; 17) Student records/papers, ca. 1948-1976; 18) Clippings on individuals; 19) Materials on various subjects; 20) Miscellaneous memorabilia; and 21) Periodicals.

Series 3 - Family and legal correspondence, 1850-1984 (1945-1984)

Physical Description: 7 cubic ft. 211 file folders

Scope and Contents

This series contains Paul Leser's correspondence with family members and legal counsel. Much of the post-war correspondence deals with issues surrounding the family property and residence in Bonn (Plittersdorf), Germany. This includes a lengthy correspondence between Paul Leser and the other heirs to the Leser family properties, including brother Albert Lestoque, niece Bettina Coon and nephew Walter Lestoque, as well as with family lawyers Wolf Wassermeyer, Günter Kofferath, Agnes Küsel-Meise.

Arrangement

Arranged alphabetically.

Series 4 - Maria (Mira) and Heinrich (Heinz) Lingemann Collection, 1913-1964

Physical Description: 6 cubic ft. 353 file folders

Scope and Contents

Maria (Mira) Lingemann (b. January 20, 1894; d. May 23, 1964) was the older sister of Paul Leser. Her husband, Heinrich Lingemann (b. September 23, 1880; d. June 29, 1962), was a lawyer by profession until he was forced by the Nazis to retire in 1938. In the years immediately following the end of World War II, Lingemann was recalled to public service in Germany and served as Oberlandesgerichtspräsident of the province of Nordrhein, Germany, helping to reshape the judicial system of postwar Germany. The materials in this series have been divided into two sections, the first being the papers of Maria Lingemann. These consist of documents, some early writings, diaries and notebooks, and correspondence. The largest amount of correspondence is between Maria Lingemann and Paul Leser and dates from 1913 until her death in 1964. The Heinrich Lingemann materials consist of a small number of documents, typescripts, correspondence pertaining to Lingemann's activities in post-war Germany, and several case files, the most notable being that of Otto Bräutigam. In addition to Bräutigam, other notable correspondents represented in the Heinrich Lingemann papers include Konrad Adenauer, Heinrich Brüning and Emil Niethammer.

Series 5 - General Correspondence, 1913-1984

Physical Description: 16 cubic ft. 1548 file folders

Scope and Contents

This is the largest series in the collection and contains Leser's correspondence with other anthropologists and colleagues, life-long friends, as well as some students. (The bulk of the student correspondence is filed with the student records, Series 16).

Included in the anthropologists and colleagues with whom Leser carried on lengthy correspondences are: Ford L. Battles, Hermann Baumann, Wolfram Becker, Gösta Berg, Martin Block, Branimir Bratanic, Sigurd Erixon, Robert Heine-Geldern, P. Joseph Henninger, Martin Heydrich, Paul Honigsheim, Wilhelm Koppers, Melvin Kranzberg, Johannes Lehmann, Grith Lerche, Géza de Rohan-Csermak, P. Wilhelm Schmidt, Flola Shepard, Else and Hans Staudinger and Axel Steensberg. He also maintained contact with former students over the years, including Margaret Arnott, Gail Cromack, Hubert and Harriett Reynolds and Donald C. Johanson.

In addition to correspondence with colleagues and students, Paul Leser maintained his contact with former friends, many who remained in Germany and who were involved in the Youth Movement (Jugendbewegung) of the 1920s and 1930s. A number of these contacts spanned five to six decades and included: Eva Bramesfeld, Kurt Hanf-Dressler, Max Hoffmann, Else Homann, Wolf Kaiser, Friedrich (Bibich) Klemm, Willi J. (Knöppchen) Knoob, Gräfin Maria Lanckoronska, Richard (Lo) Lohmann, Heinrich (Heino) Moeller, Hanna (Hannako) and Hermann Pauli, Ernest (Benjo) Zeitel, and the brothers Robert, Bernhard, Karl Oelbermann.

Series 6 - Correspondence with institutions, associations, publishers, etc., 1920-1984

Physical Description: 9 cubic ft. 496 file folders

Scope and Contents

This series contains Leser's institutional and organizational correspondence and documents his involvement with associations in the United States and worldwide, such as the African Studies Association, the American Anthropological Association, the American Association of Physical Anthropologists, the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Völkerkunde, The Royal Danish Academy of Sciences and Letters, the Society for the Scientific Study of Religion and the Wenner-Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research. Also included in this series is correspondence concerning travel arrangements and conferences, with publishers, churches and missionary groups, book dealers and museums, and correspondence with colleges and universities, including those where Leser taught: Black Mountain College, Olivet College, The New School for Social Research and the University of Hartford.

Leser's generosity to family members and friends who remained in Germany after the war is also documented in this series by records of gift packages sent through CARE and Overseas Parcel Services, as well as numerous gifts of flowers, books and candies.

Series 7 - Writings of Paul Leser, 1914-1979

Physical Description: 8 cubic ft. 253 file folders

Scope and Contents

This series contains the majority of Paul Leser's essayistic publications, in manuscript or typescript, as well as in published form. Also represented in this series are samples of early poetry and prose attempts by Leser from his teen years, copies of his dissertation, and proof copies and reviews of his seminal work, Entstehung und Verbreitung des Pfluges (1931). Also present in this series are multiple copies of a Paul Leser Bibliography, published on the occasion of his 80th birthday.

Series 8 - Fritz Graebner Collection, 1909-1980

Physical Description: 75 file folders

Scope and Contents

The Graebner series is of interest to researchers in the history of anthropology and ethnology, and specifically those concerned with the cultural-historical approach to ethnology which Graebner spearheaded. Graebner was Leser's mentor and perhaps the greatest influence on his academic career and scholarly interests; Leser remained loyal to Graebner's anthropological methodology even after it had fallen out of favor in academic circles.

Graebner was born in 1877 in Berlin. He received his Ph.D. in history at the University of Berlin in 1901; his dissertation was on a topic in medieval history. He went on to become a research assistant on the staff of the Royal Museum of Ethnology in Berlin, where he classified South Seas materials. In 1907, he became an assistant at the Raustenstrauch-Joest Museum. During this time, he, along with Bernhard Ankermann, developed the method of Kulturkreis, which examined the geographical diffusion of clusters of cultural traits. This development represented a break from the biological-evolutionary concepts which dominated anthropology at the time. Graebner thus remained true to his historical training and became one of the principal exponents of the cultural-historical approach to ethnology. Although this methodological approach was later abandoned by ethnologists, Graebner did exert lasting influence on ethnology in central and northern Europe, particularly on the Vienna school of Kulturkreislehre. In the later years of his life, he became the director of the Raustenstrauch-Joest Museum; he was forced to resign this position due to illness in 1928. In 1934, he returned to Berlin, where he died.

The series contains important published and unpublished manuscripts, photographs, and some correspondence (1920--1937) of both Graebner and his wife Paula. It also contains materials related to the articles written by Joseph Henninger and Paul Leser in honor of the 100th anniversary of Graebner's birth in 1977. Above all, the series helps illuminate the importance of Fritz Graebner, the man and the ethnologist, in the life and work of his student Paul Leser. The Graebner series is divided into two subseries and arranged alphabetically within the subseries. The series is divided into materials by Graebner and materials about Graebner. Materials by Graebner include: correspondence, photographs/negatives, book reviews, offprints, notebooks, and published and unpublished manuscripts. Materials about Graebner include: correspondence between Leser and Henninger, notes for Leser's writings on Graebner, newspaper articles by Leser about Graebner, and writings by both Leser and Henninger.

Arrangement

Arranged alphabetically within two series.

Series 9 - Julius Lips Collection, 1926-1940

Physical Description: 134 file folders

Scope and Contents

The Lips series is of interest not only because of the plagiarism case itself, but also because of the way the case reflects the academic and political climate of Germany in the early 1930s. The case began in 1928, when Martin Block, Lips' assistant at the Raustenstrauch-Joest Museum, complained to Johannes Lehmann, director of the Frankfurt Museum and head of the Association of German Ethnological Museums. Among other grievances, he charged Lips with plagiarizing the anthropologists Fritz Graebner, Wilhelm Schmidt, and Wilhelm Koppers in his work Einleitung in die vergleichende Voelkerkunde. Lehmann and his assistants, Ernst Vatter and Paul Leser, documented the plagiarism and quickly became embroiled in the controversy. The case (or cases, as many different charges and countercharges were filed), eventually reached the courts and involved many prominent German and Austrian academics. It also became a political conflict, played out in the newspapers, as Lips was a member of the Social Democratic Party. The Social Democratic newspapers supported him, while the more conservative papers used the charges as an excuse to attack Lips' character. The case, for all intents and purposes, ended when the Nazis came to power in 1933. Beyond the political and academic aspects, the case is also of note as it helps to illuminate Leser's continuing interest in academic honesty, plagiarism, and the critique of sources.

The case is well represented by correspondence (1926-1940) between most of the individuals involved, newspapers (1927-1939), manuscripts, reviews, reports, legal papers, and professional opinions on the charges. There is little material on the final disposition of the case(s) and there are no transcripts of actual court hearings.

The Lips series contains materials relating to the charges of plagiarism filed against Dr. Julius Lips by Paul Leser, et al. The series includes correspondence between many individuals involved in the case and the correspondence of the Deutscher Museum Bund relating to the case. It also contains drafts of manuscripts about the case, Leser's critically annotated copies of Lips' publications, reviews of Lips' Einleitung in die vergleichende Voelkerkunde, and professional opinions regarding the merits of the plagiarism charge. The series contains newspapers with articles about Lips and copies of newspaper clippings about the case. The series also includes subject files on cases related to the original plagiarism charges.

Series 10 - Jugendbewegung Collection, 1913-1984

Physical Description: 3 cubic ft. 77 file folders

Scope and Contents

The Jugendbewegung Collection is divided into three sections. The first section contains photocopies of the handwritten account by Wolfgang Kaiser of the activities of the Nerother Bund youth group from October 1928 through the year 1931. The second section contains clippings, materials and some correspondence pertaining to different aspects of the youth movement. The final section contains examples of Jugendbewegung periodicals, primarily from the 1920s and 1930s, but also contains examples of youth-oriented periodicals dating into the 1980s.

Arrangement

Arranged alphabetically within three sections.

Series 19 - Materials on various subjects

Physical Description: 188 file folders

Scope and Contents

This series contains clippings, notes, brochures and other materials on a variety of subject areas. One series of files contains newspaper clippings on the family estate in Bonn/ Plittersdorf (1964-1984), which chronicle the property and surrounding area in local newspapers from its ownership by Leser family to the eventual conversion into a recreational park (Leserpark). Other files contain conference materials, materials on the plow, including photographs and early publications. Also contained in this series are a collection of postwar U.S. and occupation newspapers, primarily circulated to U. S. citizens working in postwar Germany.

Arrangement

Arranged alphabetically.
